Re: Recalled Peanut Butter Products

Our agency recently received communication from the North Carolina Department of Environment and Natural Resources (DENR) stating that beginning January 28, 2009, DENR is planning to conduct spot checks of facilities, including those licensed and regulated by DHSR, to check for recalled peanut butter products. They will be looking for the following brands:

- King Nut brand peanut butter products;
- Parnell's Pride peanut butter products;
- Austin brand snack crackers and other items containing peanut products;
- Keebler brand snack crackers and other items containing peanut products; and
- Little Debbie brand snack crackers and other items containing peanut products.

You can find additional information about DENR at their web site:
