The Permanency Innovation Initiative (PII) was established to serve the youth in our state most at risk of aging out, with a focus on the longest waiting youth. The first training in the Permanency Matters series seeks to break down the myth that some youth are “unadoptable” and best served by APPLA or independent living. Participants will have the opportunity to hear how the Child-Focused Recruitment model is implemented in challenging cases and will leave the training with information about the eligibility requirements for youth and counties interested in accessing the service.
