

Accessibility for All: AT for Inclusion at Work

Next month marks the 33rd anniversary of the Americans with Disabilities Act. The Act protects the civil rights of people with disabilities and is the driving force moving America closer to the promise of equal opportunity, full participation, independent living, and economic self-sufficiency for people with disabilities.

To celebrate the anniversary, we're highlighting how Assistive Technology helps us achieve the promise of the ADA. For people with disabilities, AT facilitates effective communication, access to educational and career opportunities, and full participation in community life.

Join us to learn how AT helps North Carolinians with disabilities stay active, engaged and connected at work and in the community.
